JOURNAL OF THE SENATE.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
SENATE CHAMBER.
TRENTON, Tuesday, January 9, 1866.

This being the time and place appointed by the Constitution for the assembling of the Legislature, the Senate was called to order by John H. Meeker, the Secretary of the last Senate.

The oaths prescribed by law having been duly administered to each of said Senators by the President pro tempore, they severally took their seats in the Senate.

Under the direction of the President pro tempore, the Secretary called the Senate, when the following Senators answered to their names:

The Senate then proceeded, on motion of Mr. Reeves, to the choice of a President for the present session.

Mr. Reeves nominated the Hon. James M. Scovel, of the county of Camden.

Mr. Wurts nominated the Hon. Henry S. Little, of the county of Monmouth.

Under the direction of the President pro tempore, the Secretary called the Senate, with the following result:

For Mr. Scovel, were

Messrs. Acton, Blackman, Buckley, Cobb, Horner, Little, Ludlam, Reeves, Richey, Ware, Wright—11.

For Mr. Little, were

Messrs. Dater, Doughty, Grier, Kennedy, Martin, Robins, Scovel, Trusdell, Winfield, Wurts—10.

Mr. Scovel having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared by the President pro tempore, duly elected President of the Senate for the present session, and was conducted to the chair by Messrs. Horner and Little.

Upon taking the chair, the President addressed the Senate as follows:

SENATORS! I cordially thank you for this testimony of your regard in the vote which has resulted in choosing me as the presiding officer of this body. And I desire to say with sincerity, as I stand upon the threshold of the duties and responsibilities of my position, that I shall rely much upon the courtesy and forbearance of both the majority and minority of this body, and I shall rely more upon the parliamentary knowledge of those in this body who are older and abler than myself.

In my political career, however much misunderstood by friend and foe, I have endeavored to act in accordance with the light within me. I hold that what is wrong in morals cannot be right in politics. And I trust that I have been able to respect the honesty of sentiment in those with whom I most widely differ in political opinion.

If I err, as I frequently will, it shall not be from any intentional injustice to any man representing a constituency on this floor.

With those in the Senate with whom I have been for many years connected, what shall I say? With them I am connected with the strong and tender ties of political friendship, by every faculty of mind and every impulse of my heart. And I trust that to-day I will be joined by all the honorable gentlemen who occupy seats in the Senate in expressing our unspeakable joy that, since the clash of arms has ceased, the land we love—dearer to us by the sacrifices our sons and brothers have made for it—stands stronger and more beautiful than ever, as the republic emerges from the barbarism of slavery into the light of a purer civilization.

America becomes again what Cavour said she was five years ago, the admiration of man, and the wonder of the world. Forgetting the present and glancing at the past, we recall almost the latest words of our lamented Chief Magistrate, "Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray," said Abraham Lincoln, the kind-hearted gentleman, the first statesman and the foremost patriot of the age, so lately lost to the land he loved so well, and in which he was so well beloved—"fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war may pass away."

The statesman's prayer has been answered. But he, like Moses, lived to see a promised land he never entered. He died the loftiest, but not the latest victim to the rapacity and despair of a dying rebellion.

He sleeps, our Commander-in-Chief, beside the lowliest soldier who gave up his life for the Republic. Those who wanted peace the worst won it by the sword; and now, like a bow of promise, it spans the land. With it come new blessings and added burdens. The legislator is merely the servant of the thinker, and the people who think as well as toil have sent us here to lighten the burdens which press upon the springs of industry, that we may guard the honor, develop the interests, and extend the influence of New Jersey, now as fair a star as shines in the firmament of the nation. Let us, as the trusted representatives of a constituency, many of whom we may never see, so far as it is in our power, strive to bind up the nation's wounds. Let us proclaim our faith in the Declaration of Independence, which is not, for us, "the passionate manifesto of a revolutionary war," but the living and breathing utterance of immortal truth. Let us "care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphans;" and above all, while we listen to the national interests which daily appeal to us, let us never forget the sacred and everlasting interests of Justice and Humanity.

The Senate then proceeded to the choice of a Secretary.

Resolved (House of Assembly concurring), That the termination of the dreadful civil war which so long filled the whole land with sorrow, is matter of profound gratitude to Almighty God, who has been pleased to bring us out of the fearful trial with our national unity unimpaired, and our free institutions more firmly established than ever in the hearts of the American people, and the respect of the world.

Resolved, That so long as the great and the good are revered among men, the name of Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth President of the United States, will not cease to be honored by a grateful people; and while we abhor the enormous crime which struck at the life of so pure a patriot and so wise a ruler, and deplore with the deepest sorrow his untimely death; we are grateful to a wise and watchful Providence which warded off the weapons of assassins until his lofty mission was completed, and he had won for himself an imperishable name among the great leaders of our race in humanity, civilization and true progress.

Resolved, That we acknowledge the goodness of God in so ordaining events, that when the sudden death of Abraham Lincoln left vacant the chair of the Chief Magistrate of the nation, his lawful successor in office was found in the person of Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, in whom we recognize an able statesman, whose extended experience in public affairs, and whose ardent love of the whole country, as well as his thorough acquaintance with the various sections which compose it, peculiarly fit him to deal calmly, intelligently and effectually with the important and intricate questions which demand his attention.

Resolved, That we commend the action of President Johnson in demanding of the States lately in rebellion a repudiation of the debts incurred by them in the attempt to destroy the Union, also the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment for the abolition of Slavery, with pledges for the protection of the persons, property and liberties of the freedmen, and while proper guaranties are wisely required, and every care is taken that there be left among us no source of future sectional strife of any kind, we sustain him in all generous modes of dealing with the persons and the States, that desire cordially to return to their allegiance and their duty.

Resolved, That we take pleasure in putting on record, our high appreciation of the ability and fidelity with which the Honorable William H. Seward, Secretary of State, has performed the duties of his very responsible office in times of new and peculiar peril and difficulty; that we deem the blows aimed at his life by traitor hands show evidence of the value of his services to his country; and that we congratulate him that he still lives to see the glorious triumph of the good cause for which he has labored and suffered.

Resolved, That the thanks of the American people are due to Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, who for four years has performed the multiplied and arduous duties of his office with an invincible energy, tireless industry, and brilliant success and spotless rectitude, which are worthy of the noblest tributes of a nation's gratitude.

Resolved, That we regard the abolition of slavery not only as a removal of the great source of national discord and peril, but as a concession due to the spirit of the Christian religion, as well as to the immutable principles of justice and humanity.

Resolved, That in the results of the war now terminated, we behold the promise that the American people are destined to enter upon a new career of prosperity and power; and we are firmly persuaded that when the passions excited by the contest shall have cooled, it will be seen that the liberties, the happiness, the welfare of the Southern States of the Union are secured no less really and effectively than our own.

WHEREAS, since the adjournment of the last Legislature of New Jersey, it has pleased Almighty God, in His all wise Providence, to remove by death a member of this Senate, in the prime of his life and in the full tide of successful achievement as a legislator and a statesman, as well as in his profession; and

WHEREAS, it seems but right and proper that an event so sad should arrest our attention, and demand from us more than a parting thought, therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Hon. Lyman A. Chandler, a legislator of so much ability and fidelity, a lawyer so eminent, and a citizen so respected, the State, the community, and the legal profession, have suffered an irreparable loss.

Resolved, That by this afflictive dispensation of Divine Providence, in the removal of one who had scarce attained the meridian of his strength, and who seemed so well fitted by native talent as well as by literary culture, to adorn the highest walks of life, we are again admonished of the brevity of our stay upon the earth, and the slender tenure by which we hold all that we here possess.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this their great sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the widow of the deceased by the Secretary of the Senate.

Resolved, That as a tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased, the Senate do now adjourn.

On introducing the resolutions, Mr. Cobb addressed the Senate as follows:

It is my painful duty to announce to the Senate the decease of the Hon. Lyman A. Chandler, late Senator for the county of Morris, who died on the 11th of September last, at his residence in Rockaway. Permit me to avail myself of the usages of this body to pay a brief tribute of respect to him whose loss we are called to deplore.

Mr. Chandler was one of those men whose career is the best eulogy of our free institutions, who are the builders of their own fortunes, and by the sole force of industry and native gifts achieve eminence and success. He was born in the State of New York. The first great aim of his boyhood was to secure a thorough education. Having been graduated at Middlebury College, Vermont, he came to New Jersey and engaged for a time in the useful and honorable occupation of an instructor of youth. He then applied himself to the study of law in Morristown, and in the year 1845 was admitted to the bar. At the very beginning of his practice as a lawyer he took a high position, and soon began to reap the substantial fruits of his long preparatory toil. His generous heart and genial manners gathered friends daily, and in 1858 the suffrages of those who had marked his course with admiration elected him a member of the House of Assembly. The next year he was re-elected, and during both terms of official duty he was an active, able member of the House, faithfully attending to the various interests which demanded his attention. In 1862 he was elected a member of this honorable body, and for three years occupied his place in this Chamber. His whole career as a legislator was marked by energy, ability and fidelity.

You who saw him daily, and knew him well, need not be reminded of his warm friendship, his unfailing courtesy, his freedom from all that is inconsistent with the character of a gentleman and scholar.

Being himself a man of high mental culture, he was especially interested in the cause of popular education. He was a trustee of the State Normal School from its foundation, and one of its most zealous friends and advocates.

But he is gone: cut down in the midst of his years, at the very period of life when the fruits of intellect are ripest and most abundant. While we honor him for the virtues which he possessed, let us follow him in every worthy path, and so discharge our duties here, that when we, too, are summoned to pass the bourne of that undiscovered country whence no traveller returns, our memory may

“Smell sweet, and blossom in the dust.”

Mr. Kennedy addressed the Senate as follows:

I arise with a feeling of deep emotion to express my tribute of respect to the memory of my lamented friend, the Hon. Lyman A. Chandler, the late Senator from Morris.

It was not my privilege to have formed such early acquaintance with Mr. Chandler as some other of the Senators; but I feel free to say that, during the last two sessions of the Legislature, our social relations had assumed a more intimate character; living in the same family, of necessity we were much together, and we mutually embraced the opportunity to twine closer the bonds of friendship. It was perhaps in the family circle that some of the noblest traits in his character were elicited.

With his senatorial career all are familiar. We all knew and appreciated his power in this chamber. As a debater he stood prominent. Possessed of superior legal attainments, with a remarkable clearness of perception, he ever seized with avidity the strong points of his subject, and himself assured that his position was right, he seldom failed so to impress the Senate. His innate urbanity of manner, and his invariable politeness, won him the sympathy and kind consideration of his fellow Senators; and his remarks always obtained the earnest attention and warm interest of his hearers.

But I would revert to Lyman A. Chandler as he was at our domestic hearth: a gentleman by nature, he was ever courteous and agreeable. Gifted with fascinating conversational powers, he often would adorn his subject with elegant classic illustrations. Educated with a view to the acquisition of one of the learned professions, his mind had been richly stored with the choicest literature of the ancients. The sages of Greece and Rome were his familiars; and it was his delight to revisit the groves of Helicon and surmount Parnassus' heights. Abstruse science was his favorite theme, and the most intricate problem was of easy solution to his comprehensive mind. But the brightest gem in his coronet was his kindliness of heart: he had ever a tear for the sorrowing, and more substantial aid for the needy. His many deeds of kindness doubtless have a shining record elsewhere.

He has been called away from earth at an age when his capacity for usefulness had become fully developed. His removal hence cannot but fill us with wonder and awe at the mysterious dealings of the Almighty.

Shall we not so profit by this dispensation of the Allwise, that when the knell of death shall sound to us, we shall be ready? ready to cast off the cares and dross of time and enter upon the bright future of a jeyous eternity.

Mr. Scovel (Mr. Reeves in the Chair), addressed the Senate in support of the resolutions.

[The Secretary was unable to obtain a copy of Mr. Scovel's remarks, and they are, necessarily, omitted.]

Mr. Wurts said:

MR. PRESIDENT, I simply arise to add a word or two, in addition to what has been already so well said by others. I fully and heartily approve and endorse these resolutions. They commend themselves to both my heart and my judgment.

Doubtless every one who knew Lyman A. Chandler will cordially concur in the sentiments so well, so truthfully, and so feelingly expressed in reference to him by preceding Senators.

Death is always, and under all circumstances, a solemn event, and it would be well if survivors gave more heed to its inaudible yet warning voice. But when death invades a particular family or any particular association of individuals, then it cannot be but that the survivors will more truly and more deeply realize its solemnity. And in the present case, those of us who have been associated in counsel with the deceased, as members of the same legislative body, would be callous indeed, if our hearts did not prompt us to admit that the fact is so. But, sir, the death of Lyman A. Chandler was, under the circumstances, a most melancholy event.

We look back with a mournful pleasure to our intercourse with him during the former sessions of the Legislature. We remember, and can now fully appreciate, his buoyant spirits, his genial temperament, his warm heart and kindly manners. But he has been removed from time to eternity, with his sun only at the meridian, and we shall see him no more.

Mr. Chandler was eminently a practical and good business man. He was most truly, a valuable member of this Senate. As a lawyer, he was well read, and had obtained a most honorable position. He was a man of quick perceptions, with the talent of just and accurate discrimination; as a literary man of extensive and varied reading and erudition; with fine critical taste—the result of great intellectual culture, he had few superiors for his years. But I will forbear further remarks, as I am but repeating what has been better said by others.

I shall most cheerfully vote for the resolutions.

Mr. Buckley said:

That he had enjoyed a long and intimate acquaintance with Mr. Chandler. Ten years ago, they were fellow members of the House of Assembly, and occupied neighboring seats, and although they frequently disagreed in opinion on questions of public importance, he had always found Mr. Chandler, frank, manly, and courteous in debate. He had learned to respect him for these qualities, as well as for the ability and the culture for which he was distinguished. More recently he had been associated with him in the Senate, and would gladly bear his testimony to his many genial qualities.

In his death, the Senate, and the State had suffered a loss, and it was peculiarly fitting that his associates and successors in the Senate should unite in a proper tribute to his memory. He would, most heartily give his vote for the adoption of the resolutions introduced by the Senator from Morris.

[The Secretary was unable to obtain a copy of Mr. Buckley's remarks, and the brief report given above is very imperfect].

The resolutions were unanimously adopted, and

The President presented the following communication from the officers of the Soldiers' Children's Home:

To the Senate and House of Assembly of New Jersey:

The Directors of the Soldiers' Children's Home beg leave to present the following report:

Of the early history of the Soldiers' Children's Home of New Jersey we cannot speak.

The record of the efforts of those noble hearted ladies who determined to try and establish a home for the children of our brave New Jersey soldiers—the difficulties and discouragements they encountered, and their unfaltering energy, is a bright chapter in the unwritten history of the past four years.

The institution was established originally in Jersey City. The Legislature granted an appropriation of five thousand dollars. The home was moved to Millham, and several ladies of Trenton elected directors. The officers and majority of the board living in Jersey City finding it impossible to give proper attention at such a distance, within the past four months the officers have resigned, and the following ladies appointed: Mrs. W. L. Dayton, President; Mrs. J. S. Davenport and Mrs. A. G. Richey, Vice Presidents; Miss M. A. Hall, Treasurer; M. F. Johnston, Secretary, and a board of directors residing in Jersey City and Trenton.

The distance from the city and uncomfortable condition of the house in Millham, made it necessary again to move: no suitable building could be rented. The house (92 Warren street), was bought for four thousand dollars.

The purchase and fitting up the present home absorbed nearly the whole appropriation. The institution has therefore been almost entirely supported by voluntary contributions.

We have had fifty children under our care, have nearly forty inmates at this time, and have been obliged, most sorrowfully and reluctantly, to refuse nearly as many applications for want of room. From the statistics given, there are more than eighteen hundred children of deceased soldiers and sailors under twelve years of age in our State.

It is a large proportion to suppose that three hundred of them should be provided for in our institution. Our troops have been a glory to us in these dark days of the rebellion. What more permanent tribute can we offer to the memory of the brave men who perished along the war paths of Grant, Sheridan and Sherman, in battle and hospital, or amid the horrors of Andersonville, than to educate and protect their precious little ones left to our care?

We have the munificent donation of eight thousand dollars, received from the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company (given at the suggestion of Governor Parker), and will pledge ourselves as directors to raise enough to make, with it, twelve thousand dollars, and now appeal to you, honorable members of the Legislature, to grant us the balance necessary to erect a Home that will be an honor to our State, and to guarantee its support for ten years.

We know that the State debt is heavy, acknowledge the necessity of retrenchment, are deeply anxious for the establishment of the Reform School: if, in view of all these demands, we are importunate, we plead for the children—and only for ten years, the most helpless and important years of their life; that they may grow up good and true men and women, with the proud heritage of their father's patriotism, and the grateful care of a republic. We place our cause confidently in your hands, gentlemen of the Legislature, feeling that New Jersey will never, never repudiate her debt of gratitude to our noble soldiers.

Respectfully submitted,

M. F. JOHNSTON,

Secretary.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, February 6, 1866. }

MR. PRESIDENT:

I have examined Bill No. 23, which originated in the Senate, entitled "An act relative to the Central American Transit Company, incorporated by an act approved March twenty eighth, eighteen hundred and sixty two."

The bill provides that the company may issue bonds to an amount without any limit, that the bonds may be sold at any rate less than ninety cents on the dollar, and it is a matter of great question, at least, under the act, whether the company would be authorized to issue bonds unless to an amount exceeding one-half the capital, and whether they could dispose of their bonds at a greater rate than ninety cents on the dollar.

Believing that the attention of the Legislature has not been called to the language of this bill, and that the public should be protected from an unlimited issue of bonds to be issued and sold, at any sum that can be obtained for them, by a corporation of this State, I am constrained to withhold from the bill my approval.

TUESDAY, February 20, 1866.

At 10 o'clock, the Senate met.

Under the direction of the President, the Secretary called the Senate, when the following Senators appeared and answered the call:

Messrs. Acton, Blackman, Buckley, Dater, Doughty, Kennedy, Ludlam, Martin, Richey, Robins, Scovel (President), Trusdell, Ware, Winfield, Wright, Wurts.—16.

The President presented the following memorial:

To the Honorable, the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

At a large meeting of the friends of the Newark and New York Railroad, held in Newark on Friday evening, the 16th inst., it was unanimously resolved:

1. That we hereby tender to the majority of the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey our most cordial thanks for their votes and influence in favor of that road; and that we feel our thanks to be more especially due to the members from Essex county and those from Hudson county who interested and exerted themselves so actively and efficiently in behalf thereof.

2. That we also respectfully, but most earnestly, call the attention of the Senate of this State to the great importance of such a road to the citizens of this part of the State, and the almost unanimous desire of our people that the charter, which has passed the Assembly, should be ratified by the Senate; and we especially bespeak from the honorable gentlemen who represent Essex and Hudson counties in the Senate, and all other members, who are interested in the prosperity, and in sympathy with the wants of this section of the State, not only their votes for that charter, but their active support and the entire weight of their influence in its support.

3. That we do most confidently assure them, the Honorable the Senate of this State, that by granting said charter, they will secure to themselves the hearty thanks and benisons of at least nine-tenths of the inhabitants of the two most populous and prosperous counties in the State.

4. That we verily believe and so far as we know, there is no opposition whatever to this enterprise, except such as is instigated by some of the officers and a part of the stockholders of the New Jersey Railroad and Transportation Company, under, as we verily believe, the mistaken notion, that the new road asked for would in some way diminish their material prosperity; and we say confidently that while the prosperity of that road is mainly owing to the increase in wealth, population and business of the State, which is more than tenfold, its ability and capacity to accommodate the demands of the public have not correspondingly increased and indeed cannot be made equal to our actual necessities. The great want of Newark to-day is new avenues of communication with New York; give us those and within the next decade we will show a population of not less than 160,000 instead of 83,000 as to-day.

5. That while we find much to commend in that road, and are not disposed to trench on a single right or privilege granted to that road, we cannot but regard their opposition to our new road, to say the least, as ungenerous to the public who have made them what they are, unpublic-spirited, and contrary to the imperious demands and requirements of the public.

6. That we verily believe while that road may and will continue to be the useful and prosperous corporation it always has been, and may, and will continue to pay its stockholders as large dividends as ever; there is yet ample room and verge for us with our new road—a new road would create more business than it would detract from the New Jersey Railroad and Transportation Company, such is the teaching of our history, and we are satisfied it will be true in the future; and while the public and the people will be vastly benefitted by two such roads, each road will be much better in every respect for the existence of the other, and

7. That these resolutions be published in each one of the Newark papers, and a printed or carefully engrossed copy thereof be forwarded to the Hon. James M. Scovel, President of the Senate, and the Hon. John Hill, Speaker of the Assembly, with a request that they cause the same to be read to their respective bodies over which they preside, as expressive of the sense of our citizens.

Dated Newark, N. J., 16th February, 1866.

CHAS. O. BOLLES, Chairman.

JAMES E. GOLL, Secretary.

Which was read and laid upon the table.

The President offered the following concurrent resolutions:

WHEREAS, the question is now pending in Congress whether the Veteran Reserve Corps shall be disbanded or retained in the service; and whereas, these wounded soldiers of the Republic deserve for their valor the thanks of every good citizen, as well as the protection and cherishing care of a Government they have done so much to preserve, therefore

WHEREAS, it is a great fundamental principle of the American government that legislation shall guide every political change, and that somewhere within the United States there is always a permanent organized legal authority which guides the footsteps of those who seek to restore governments which are disorganized and broken down; therefore,

Resolved, That Congress, guided by pre-existing political authority, ought to, under the fourth section of the third article of the Constitution, guarantee to the States lately in rebellion a republican form of government.

Resolved, That a policy which utterly ignores the rights, civil and political, of five millions of freedmen, some of whom have shed their blood for the salvation of the Republic, does not possess and cannot possess any elements of vitality or of justice.

Resolved, That for New Jersey, and in the name of the country, we tender at once our sympathy and respect to the bold and brave men in Congress who have been and are to-day faithful to the principles that made us a party, and carried us triumphantly through four years of civil war.

To the Senate :

MR. PRESIDENT :

I herewith communicate a letter from the Librarian of Congress, with the endorsement of our Representatives at Washington, and trust that the propriety of the suggestions contained therein will commend itself to the Legislature, and lead to the proper amendment of the existing law [See section 9 of an act relative to the laws of this State, the proceedings of the Legislature, and of the distribution thereof, and the laws of the United States], approved April sixteenth, eighteen hundred and forty-six.—*R. As this library is used not only by Congress, but by the Supreme Court of the United States, and as all documents published by Congress are regularly furnished to your State, I venture, respectfully, to suggest such an amendment of the laws regulating the distribution of State documents as shall procure the transmission to this library of two copies of each. I enclose a complete list of such as are already in the library, hoping that it may be in the power of the State officers to render the set more complete and to keep it full hereafter.

With high respect, your obedient servant,

A. R. SHOFFORD, Librarian of Congress.

The Joint Committee appointed to examine and report upon the propriety of purchasing for the State the portraits of the Governors of New Jersey, painted by Atwood & Son, of Trenton, respectfully report, that they have examined the said portraits, and find, painted on canvas, the portraits of Governors Livingston, Patterson, Bloomfield, Williamson, Southard, Pennington, Vroom, Haines, Fort, Newell, Olden, Parker and Ward, in size 40 by 48 inches, in good gilt frames.

The portraits of Governors Pennington, Dickerson (Mahlon), Dickerson (Philemon), Ogden, Seeley, Price and Stratton, are yet to be painted. We find them as works of art, containing much merit, and so far as the knowledge of your committee extends, correct likenesses. They embrace all of the Governors of this State since the Declaration of Independence, except Governor Seeley, no trace of whom can now be found. We respectfully suggest that the State should possess these portraits. It is due to herself and to the long lives of eminent men who have administered her government. The price which is fixed at two hundred and fifty dollars, ($250.00) each, is nothing when compared with their historical value.

We accompany this report with an act providing for their purchase, and hope the same will receive the favorable consideration of the Legislature.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of

Senate bill No. 57, entitled

An act to establish a police district in the county of Hudson, and to provide for the government thereof.

The question being on the amendments to the third section proposed by Mr. Winfield,

Mr. Winfield presented the following preamble and resolutions, as passed by a public meeting held in Jersey City, which preamble and resolutions were read by the Secretary :

WHEREAS, a bill is now pending before the Legislature of New Jersey, entitled "An act to establish a police district in the county of Hudson, and to provide for the government thereof;" and

Whereas, by the provisions of said bill, said police district is to consist only of Jersey City, and such portions of Hudson county as may hereafter be annexed to said city ; and

Whereas, the contents of said bill are unacceptable to the citizens of Jersey City, so far as they are acquainted therewith ; and

Whereas, the practice has hitherto been for the Common Council, as the immediate representatives of the people, to prepare and ask for amendments to the city charter, and all other acts affecting the interests of the city ; and

Whereas, the said act, known as the police bill, was before the Common Council, and reported as unfit for the government of our police ; therefore,

Resolved, That we, the people of Jersey City, in mass meeting assembled, without distinction of party, protest against the passage of said police bill as unfit to become a law, and regard it as an unnecessary attempt to take from us our chartered rights.

Resolved, That we are unanimously in favor of any reform in our police system which will afford greater security to life and property, and tend more perfectly to preserve public order in our city ; but that we discover in the bill alluded to, which has already passed the Assembly, not only features opposed to all these results, but anti-republican and oppressive to our citizens, and destructive to our dearest rights as American citizens, especially the right of self government guaranteed by the Constitution and Declaration of Independence.

Resolved, That we believe in the principle that there should be no taxation without representation ; whereas the provisions of this bill gives the power of unlimited taxation over the citizens of Jersey City to an irresponsible body of men in whose appointment they have no voice, and over whose conduct they have no control.

Resolved, That we protest against the passage of a bill thus calculated to place our city finances in the power of men, of whom no security is required, and over whose acts no competent authority is established—men who are to fulfill the arduous duties without pecuniary compensation, and who are clothed with an absolute power over our citizens, which it is expecting too much of human nature, in exciting political times, to suppose they will not use for party purposes, to the detriment of good order and the oppression of the citizens.

Resolved, That we regard the said police bill as badly prepared, dangerous in its tendency, extravagant in its salaries and expenditures, unasked for by the people upon whom alone it is to operate, and who alone are to pay the cost of the experiment; and while we, as good citizens, are always ready to accept the solemn enactments of the Legislature as binding upon us and commanding our implicit obedience, we entreat that honorable body to spare us the degradation of having forced upon us a law for which we have not asked, and which is not sought to be forced upon any other city of the State.

Resolved, That we regard the people of this city as law abiding citizens, and that under the police force as heretofore managed property and life have been as secure as in any other city in the State, and while we are anxious as any other people to bring our police arrangements nearer to perfection, we respectfully claim the privilege for ourselves as a people to regulate our own internal affairs.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, to go to Trenton and oppose the passage of this bill.

The message of the Governor, returning Senate bill No. 91, entitled

An act to incorporate the Tidewater Company,

Together with his objections to the same,

Was taken up, and the Governor's message read as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY, }
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
TRENTON, March 6th, 1866. }

MR. PRESIDENT:—I have examined bill No. 91, which originated in the Senate, entitled "An act to incorporate the Tidewater Company," and return the same with my objections, as follows:

First—The bill provides that the meadows are to be drained at a cost and in a manner in which the owners of the land have no voice; all competition for the contract to do the work is excluded, and the bill contemplates such an assessment of the land as will not only pay for the work thus contracted for, but such as will afford the Tidewater Company a pecuniary profit.

Heretofore, when the aid of legislation has been asked for the draining and reclamation of meadows in this State, it has been by the owners of the meadows, and the work has been left open to competition, so as to be done on the most favorable terms, and all the money raised by assessment expended on the work.

This bill contemplates the improvement of a vast and somewhat undefined extent of territory without the application of the land owners, and even against their will, by those not necessarily or in fact interested in the lands, the work to be done on such terms as commissioners appointed on the application of the Tidewater Company may make with the Tidewater Company, all competition being excluded; and the act, by the fourteenth section, contemplates that by this transaction the land owners will pay not only what the work will cost, but such additional sum as will, besides paying the annual salaries of three commissioners, enable the Tidewater Company to make semi-annual dividends on a capital of one million.

If the legislature is to depart from the usual custom of this State, and extend its aid for the improvement of private property without application from the owners of such property, and even against their will, I think the work should be done by commissioners of the State, who would receive compensation but would not subject the land owners to the burden of pecuniary profits, so as to give dividends to stockholders. The district to be improved would be defined and of reasonable extent; the work would, under the influence of proper competition, be done in the most economical manner, and the tax to pay for it be the smallest possible sum. I cannot approve the principle that a private corporation shall be authorized to make, besides the salaries of the commissioners, a pecuniary profit out of the business. Neither can I approve the provision which excludes all competition as to the prices at which the work is to be done, by giving this corporation the exclusive right to do the work, and to do it, too, at a price to be fixed by commissioners who are appointed on the application of the company.

Second—The Legislature will observe that by this act the land owner, having been obliged to submit to the improvement of his lands at a cost and in a manner in which he had no voice, and having for two, three or more years paid the assessment and perhaps expended large sums of money so as to get some return for the expenditure—is left entirely at the mercy of the Tidewater Company; for, by the act, that company can at their pleasure abandon the draining of any portion of the land, and the penalty expressly established by the bill for so doing is, that for the time any portion of the lands are so neglected the company shall not, as to that portion of the land, collect the annual tax. A provision which thus permits the land-holder to be deprived of the benefit of the assessment he has paid, and to lose all he may have expended in improvements, at the pleasure of the corporation which has, against his will, forced these services upon him, I do not think just.

Third—If the assessments are not paid, the company is authorized to purchase the lands for a term of years, which term, in many cases, would probably, for all practical purposes, be equivalent to a fee simple. The only limit to the amount of land the company may hold is such amount as may be “expedient for the objects of the corporation.” And after the company shall have become the purchasers of such lands, there is no obligation imposed on them to continue to have them drained—the penalty for not doing so being simply that they shall not, as to the land neglected, collect the tax.

Fourth—The act does not require any capital to be paid in, and as the corporators are by the bill made directors, and are so to continue until others are elected—whenever that may be—the company could continue to exist and exercise its franchises for its whole duration, without having any capital. And I see little security to the public in restricting the amount of bonds the company may issue to the amount of its authorized capital, inasmuch as the act does not require the company to be possessed of any actual capital.

Fifth—There is no requirement as to the time when this company shall begin its work, and, of course, none when it shall be completed; and the act may, to the great damage of the owners of property, hang over it as an encumbrance for years.

The fifteenth section provides that the work shall be commenced within one year after making the contract with the commissioners, and that the work shall be completed in five years thereafter; but there is no provision as to when the contract shall be made. The contract is to be made by the company with the commissioners, and the commissioners are to be appointed on the application of the company.

Sixth—The provisions of this act extend to the lands in and about the marshes on Newark Bay, the Hackensack and Passaic rivers, except the land situated in Bergen and Essex counties. It extends to many thousands of acres. It extends to those meadows which skirt the easterly bank of the Passaic, both banks of the Hackensack and of Newark Bay, in Hudson and Union counties. The provisions of the act extend to a vast extent of water front, the value of which in the present is great.

The twelfth and thirteenth sections authorize the company to take, against the will of the owner, as is usual for railroad purposes, the damages being assessed by commissioners with an appeal to a jury, all lands required for their embankments, works and structures. To reclaim a meadow, subject to be wet by the tide, of course, an embankment from ten to twenty-five feet wide on the margins of the waters would be necessary.

This strip or ribbon of land along the water, the thirteenth section authorizes the company to take and hold in fee simple, and what would be the consequence of such ownership in fee simple? The consequence would be that the Tidewater Company would be the owners of the riparian rights on those waters in front of the strip taken.

Subject to the rights of the State, they would have the right to dock out and reclaim lands on the Passaic opposite Newark, on both sides of the Hackensack, and on the bay in Hudson and Union counties.

This consequence probably was not contemplated by the incorporators, but if the bill becomes a law, the incorporators could not prevent future stockholders from availing themselves of the benefits the law confers. This result would be so serious an injury to the land owners, and to the public, that I cannot approve the bill.

Seventh—The sixth section of the act authorizes the company not only to "drain the meadows," but to "reclaim overflowed land" about the marshes of the bay and of the Hackensack and Passaic rivers. The company is thus authorized to reclaim land under water or flats in those waters; and it is no answer to so vast a grant to say that the company would not own the lands when reclaimed, because the company, if they became the owners in fee simple of the strip along the margin of these waters, taken as before stated, would become the owners of the reclaimed lands in front of such marginal strip.

It may be worthy to remark that the power to take the lands for the embankment and to reclaim the overflowed lands, by the sixth, twelfth and thirteenth sections, exists if no contract should be made. It is true that until the contract is made with the commissioners no assessment for the work done can be made on the land-owners.

Without considering the question whether the bill is or is not constitutional, it seems to me to be so vast in its possible effects, so unguarded and so against our received ideas of the rights of the people, that I have been constrained to return the bill, with some of my reasons against it.

Respectfully,
